

Cobb County
Resource Directory for Senior Citizens
2011

Purpose

The purpose of this Directory is to provide a reader-friendly listing of programs and services available to Cobb County senior adults.

Listings do not constitute endorsements of a service or a program. This directory is a best effort to provide resource referrals for seniors in Cobb County but may not be a comprehensive listing as such.

To help us revise material for future issues, please report errors and/or omissions on the Revision Form on page 23 and return to the address listed on the form.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that the Senior Citizen Council publishes this sixth edition of the Cobb County Resource Directory for Senior Citizens. This Directory is financed by membership fees, revenue from trips sponsored by the Council, advertising in The Bulletin, and advertising in the Directory. There is a membership form located on page 24 if you would like to join us and receive The Bulletin.

We appreciate the advertisers, as they allow us to reprint and update this directory on a regular basis. Without them, this might not be possible on a regular basis. Please let them know that you appreciate their efforts to support nonprofit organizations in our county, support the senior citizens and their involvement in the community.

The Senior Citizen Council

The Senior Citizen Council of Cobb County was formed in 1973. It is a tax-exempt nonprofit membership based organization, sponsored by Cobb Senior Services, whose primary function is to further the common good and general welfare of Cobb County adults over the age of 55. It now embraces approximately 50 clubs and over 3500 individual members. Other organizations striving to meet the needs of seniors in the community consider the Council as a role model in Georgia.

The Council encourages seniors to stay involved in the community and provides a forum on aging issues. It recognizes contributions made by senior volunteers at an annual luncheon, and awards scholarships to students who plan to further their careers in gerontology. The Bulletin, a monthly newspaper, informs seniors about pertinent events, activities, trips and legislation. The Resource Directory is an initiative of the Council, as well as the Vial of Life, and Medical Information Card (File of Life) and other projects undertaken by the Council throughout the year, such as the Senior Housing Task Force, Cobb Senior Idol, Advisory Committee on Aging and more.

If you are interested in joining the Senior Council, please complete the application form in the back of Resource Directory, mail it and the proper dues amount to the address listed on the form.

MOST FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What Is The Difference Between Medicare And Medicaid?

Medicare is the federal health insurance program for people 65 years of age or older and certain disabled people. Your local Social Security Administration office takes applications for Medicare and provides general information about their program.

Medicaid is a medical assistance program jointly financed by the State and Federal governments for eligible low-income individuals. Medicaid coverage and eligibility vary among states, and eligibility depends on both financial and non-financial criteria.

Where Do I Get Information Or Apply For Medicaid?

Refer to Medicaid listing under “Most Frequently Called Numbers.

What Is The Difference Between Dementia And Alzheimer’s

Dementia is not a disease, but is a syndrome marked by deterioration in intellectual performance that involves memory loss and is severe enough to interfere with work or social activities or both. There is almost always a loss of problem-solving ability and other aspects of abstract thinking, as well. Alzheimer’s disease (AD) is the most common form of dementia.

The earliest symptom of Alzheimer’s disease is usually short-term memory loss. Other symptoms may include problems with learning, attention, judgment, and orientation; difficulty in finding the right word; and changes in personality and behavior. There are two points to keep in mind. One, the majority of elderly persons who exhibit symptoms of dementia will turn out to have AD. Two, there are other causes of dementia symptoms that may be treatable and curable. Thus, every person with these symptoms deserves a thorough medical investigation by a physician who is familiar with dementia and the elderly. What Services Are Provided For Seniors Needing Extra Care At Home?

In-Home Care provides individuals with a wide variety of supportive services that enable them to remain in their own home. In-home care allows patients to be discharged from hospitals earlier than expected because any remaining treatments can be performed in the home. Services include any combination of home health care, including medical equipment, respite care (offers relief to caregivers from demands of providing ongoing care), homemaker services, heavy duty chore services, licensed nurses, therapists and social workers, monitoring medications, assistance with the activities of daily living, home-delivered meals, companion services, telephone reassurance, and emergency response systems. Services can be hourly, weekly, monthly, or by any other arrangement. For information regarding care in Cobb County, refer to HOME HEALTH AGENCIES.

Home Health/Skilled Services are prescribed by a physician and implemented by a home health care agency. They include physical therapy, speech therapy, occupational therapy, intravenous therapy, wound care and dressing, catheterization and injections and respite. Medicare provides limited coverage for these skilled services. Home care under Medicare Part B is limited in many cases.

What Care Is Available Outside The Home?

Look under categories: HOSPITALS, HOSPICE CARE, HOUSING OPTIONS AND HOUSING SERVICES

Adult Day Care/Day Respite usually provides a structured program with activities, lunch, health and rehabilitative services, occasional outings, family support and/or counseling and transportation. Clients must meet eligibility requirements.

Independent Living is for people who want to and are able to live independently and prefer to live in a community with others of the same age and with similar interests. An independent retirement community allows for a variety of social activities and trips. Many independent living communities also offer prepared meals and provide a wide range of amenities.

Retirement Communities are also known as Continuing Care or Life Care Communities. The primary advantage of retirement communities is that an individual or couple does not need to relocate if circumstances related to their health change. Because of the breadth of care available, they are generally more costly than the other forms of available residential care. Most elders finance this by the sale of a home.

Personal Care (Assisted Living Facilities) Personal Care Homes provide housing in a group setting for elderly or disabled individuals. The Office of Regulatory Services must license Personal Care Homes. They are sometimes given names that include the phrase “assisted living/or Personal Care Homes provide 24-hour watchful oversight and generally offer staffing and a level of care between independence and that offered by a nursing home. All facilities are required to post their last inspection report for review. If there are questions about this report contact the Office of Regulatory Services, Personal Care Home Section at (404) 657-4076.

Skilled Nursing Facilities (Nursing Homes) offer a protective, therapeutic environment for those individuals who require rehabilitative care or can no longer live independently because of a chronic physical or mental condition which requires round-the-clock skilled nursing care. These communities provide care similar to that received in the hospital. Communities that receive Medicaid and Medicare reimbursements are required to maintain a social service staff and provide daily social activities for residents. If there are questions about this report contact the Office of Regulatory Services, Personal Care Home Section at (404) 657-4076.

Hospice care provides services at home or health care community for terminally ill residents and their families. Care is usually supervised by the family’s physician working cooperatively with a team of professionals that include nurses, social workers, clergy and home health care aides. Hospice care primarily manages pain and discomfort, creating an environment that encourages individual as well as loved ones to openly grieve, talk, grow and enjoy each other while remaining physically and emotionally close until the end. People do not usually enter hospice care until their projected final six (6) months of life.
